

Name: SARA ABDELHAMID

Current employer - Appointment/title: Lecturer, University of Medical Sciences and Technology

E-mail: sara.babikir2014@gmail.com

Country: SUDAN

Area of Research/Teaching

Environmental Pollution, Waste Water Treatment and waste Management

Biography

Sara Abdelhamid is a researcher at Environmental Pollution Department, Environment and Natural Resources and Desertification Research Institute. Abdelhamid received her B.S. in Zoology from Khartoum University in 2005 and her MSc. in Environmental Sciences from the Institute of Environmental Studies, University of Khartoum in 2015. After her first faculty appointment as teaching assistant at zoology department, faculty of science she moved to the University of Medical sciences and Technology where she has been since 2007. She worked at Preparatory College till 2014, then she became a lecturer at Environmental Studies College in 2015.

Abdelhamid is a member of the Schistosomiasis Research Laboratory (SRL), University of Khartoum, the Association of Sudanese Universities and Higher Institute Teachers, the Sudanese Wild Life Conservation Society and member of the Sudanese Environment Conservation Society (SECS). She is currently serving as a researcher at the Environment and Natural Resources and Desertification Research Institute (ENDRI).

Abdelhamid was one of the participant in the Climathon Khartoum 2018. She participated in several international training courses and meetings, ITEC, India 2017, TICA-Thailand 2018 and COSIMENA –Egypt 2018.

Sara Abdelhamid,
Lecturer,
University of Medical Sciences and Technology(UMST)
SUDAN

Education: BSc. (Biology)
MSc. (Environmental Sciences),

Research: Waste Recycling and Management – water treatment.

Taught in Environmental Studies Faculty-
Environmental Pollution , Climate Change
,Environmental Management

